CHRISTMAS TREE YULETIDE

New for 2026

Proudly Made In England

At Spode, we have been crafting timeless and versatile ceramics for over 255 years. Our factory sits in the heart of the Potteries, Stoke-on-Trent England, the birthplace of our founder, master potter Josiah Spode I. It is in this vibrant city that he chose to set up his innovative ceramic factory and the place where we continue to honour our legacy to this day.

It's here that our talented team nurture a legacy of innovation, craftmanship and distinguished designs.

Spode is an eclectic mix of beautiful, intricate designs that each tell a story of this rich heritage. The perfect mix of timeless style, ceramic mastery and daring curiosity.

The story of the Spode Christmas Tree collection

Loved for its quirky touch, the Spode Christmas Tree collection has been gracing our dinner tables for a magnificent 85 years and has had lots of fun doing so.

First designed in 1938 by Spode designer Harold Holdway, the collection features a Christmas Tree decorated with colourful baubles, crackers, and lanterns and topped with a jolly Santa Claus. Full of nostalgia, the collection is loved all over the world and is a must –have for family festive homes.

Never having seen a Christmas Tree before when first asked to design the collection for the American market, Spode designer, Harold Holdway, first sketched the presents suspended from each branch. After realising this would make the branches droop and being told of the tradition of surrounding the tree with gifts underneath, his final design instead featured the tree proudly standing on the floor laden with gifts. Finished with a festive green border and sprig of holly and mistletoe, it has become an iconic design perfect for creating the most evocative of yuletide tables.

Christmas Tree Yuletide - Tableware

Step into the magic of the season with Christmas Tree Yuletide, a captivating new chapter in Spode's festive story.

Inspired by the Twelve Days of Christmas carol, Christmas Tree Yuletide brings together songbirds, partridges, and festive foliage, woven through flowing scrollwork drawn from the Spode archive, beautifully complementing the classic Christmas Tree motif. Rich red tones glow with warmth and nostalgia, while hand-painted detailing and classic shapes reflect Spode's enduring craftsmanship.

Designed to be enjoyed as a complete collection or layered effortlessly with the iconic Christmas Tree set, Christmas Tree Yuletide invites you to create a table full of personality, joy, and festive spirit. A collection that celebrates tradition, storytelling, and the magical joy of coming together.
